

Corso online

A PERFECT DAY:

Deep dive into the Management of Emergency Operations

SCHEDULE

- Starting date: June 9, 2021
- Registration deadline: June 8, 2021 (early bird registration by May 25, 2021)
- Structure: 4 live streaming classes on Zoom, 1 live streaming class on Zoom to share the results of the final working, didactic material available to download, participatory learning methodology, interactions between teacher and students
- Individual coaching sessions for orientation to humanitarian worker
- Conclusion: July 14, 2021
- Final certificate: Diploma of Specialization in Management of Emergency Operations

LECTURER

Valeria Fabbroni

Italian, fluent in English and French, more than 20 year experience in the Humanitarian sector, of which more than 10 in the field, she gained a vast range of experience in the Humanitarian sector, managing projects on different sectors.

She worked in the Balkans, in the Middle East, Africa and Asia, with a variety of NGOs.

She lectures in PCM in a number of institutions and Universities.

PRESENTATION

In development contexts, external factors often add fragilities to the general situation of the country, causing a further shock that undermines the country's growth process.

- How do you approach, from a project design perspective, the restoring pre-shock conditions?
- How do I increase the "resilience" of fragile communities in the face of such shocks?
- How can I operate in accordance with humanitarian principles without jeopardizing the future activity of my organization?

The course balances theoretical aspects of tools and manuals to be used in emergencies, of emergency "rules", through individual and/or group exercises to test our ability to deal with humanitarian situations. Several case studies will be used to analyze different emergency situations and learn how to find the most suitable solutions according to the context.

INDIVIDUAL COACHING SESSION: the emergency worker

Connecting this course to practice is a priority for us. VIS Advanced Training School, in order to create a link between training and jobs, offers participants the opportunity to request an individual coaching session with the teacher in order to receive professional guidance, share questions and doubts on how to approach such a specific career. Individual sessions on zoom will be scheduled on a voluntary basis, starting immediately after the training period.

SCHEDULE

The course is structured in weekly classes in virtual classroom and home-based activities. In detail, there are 4 live streaming classes on the following topics:

- Unit 1
June 9, 2021 – 5 to 7 PM
Defining characteristics of humanitarian aid vs development cooperation; sectors, accountability framework, clusters;
- Unit 2
June 16, 2021 – 5 to 7 PM
Analysis of the main categories of humanitarian crisis and their peculiarities, analyzing examples of slow and fast developing natural disasters, wars and large movements of internally displaced persons and refugees;
- Unit 3
June 23, 2021 – 5 to 7 PM
How to measure the effectiveness of emergency interventions and how to organize activities in an emergency logical framework approach;
- Unit 4
June 30, 2021 – 5 to 7 PM
Case studies:
 - Cyclone Idai, Mozambique - natural disaster
 - Palestine: when the emergency becomes structural
 - Libya: when humanitarian aid is distorted by politics
 - Yemen: remote humanitarian aid, the last frontier of cooperation.

Within each learning unit, teaching materials will be handed out to support the analysis of the topic. Classes have a highly practical content: an active participation by students is strongly encouraged and they are invited to take part in discussion forums, virtual laboratories, online exercises. The course includes the development of a group exercise that the teacher will present during the course. Finally, a streaming session is planned on July 14, 5 to 7 PM: during this session working groups will be presented and shared, encouraging interactions among students and with the teacher.

TARGET TRAINEES

The course is addressed to all those who are:

- professional and voluntary operators of international cooperation;
- development project designers and project cycle managers;
- aspiring international volunteers and expatriate cooperators;
- university students and graduates wishing to specialize;
- teachers of all school groups and development educators;
- development cooperation officers in national or local authorities.

REQUIREMENTS

Course language is English. Knowledge of the basic procedures of project writing and basic technical terms is required.

METHODOLOGY

The course includes 4 live training sessions on Zoom platform on the dates and times specified in the program. During the sessions there will also be online group works and interactive practical exercises. There will also be a final live session on Zoom for the sharing the results of the group exercise.

The virtual place where the course will be held is a platform dedicated to e-learning (Scuola di Alta Formazione www.formazione.volint.it).

Once enrolled, you will receive an email handling the credentials to access the platform. All students need a pc and an internet connection.

Approximate estimate commitment required by the course is about 6 hours per week.

EVALUTATION CRITERIA

Students will be evaluated on the basis of active participation in classes and output of exercises given by the teacher, the delivery of which is mandatory in order to pass the course.

FINAL CERTIFICATE

At the end of the course, each trainee is awarded with a Diploma of specialization in "Management of Emergency Operations", stating the successful participation in the course and successfully overcoming of the required exercises.

VIS ADVANCED TRAINING SCHOOL

The Advanced Training School is an initiative promoted by VIS (International Voluntary Service for Development) with the aim of spreading a culture of cooperation and solidarity towards the developing countries and of providing professional competence to those dealing with international issues.

The School relies on the long-standing VIS experience in the field of development cooperation and employs highly qualified teachers, coming from the university world and with relevant experiences of international cooperation. The School aims at:

- a) building or strengthening skills and professionalism in the field of cooperation and education for sustainable development;
- b) providing a tool to better grasp the economic - anthropological - political and planning implications related to interventions in developing countries;
- c) reporting and helping develop professional opportunities both for young people in search of first employment and for workers and / or professionals looking for new job prospects and capacity development.

The teaching validity of the courses provided by the School is guaranteed by a Scientific Committee, made up of teachers and experts.

REGISTRATION FEE

Registration fee is € 190,00 for those who enroll by June 8, 2021.

Early birds registration fee (by May 25, 2021) is € 170,00.

Students who have previously attended a VIS paid training courses are entitled to a 20% discount from the full registration fee. To receive the reduction coupon, please write an email to corsionline@volint.it

Fee includes: lectures, access to all recordings, slides, study and consultation materials, tutoring, individual coaching session.

ENROLLMENT PROCEDURE

Applications can be submitted online through the following LINK

Registrations will be accepted until the day specified in this announcement and in any case until all available places are available (maximum 25 participants). The course will be activated with a minimum of 10 participants.

After submission, you will receive an email containing your credentials to access the e-learning platform.

For further information or for applications through wires send an email to corsionline@volint.it or contact the Secretariat - tel. +39 06 51.629.1

Scuola di Alta Formazione

corsionline@volint.it – +39 06 516291